MAGNETOTHERAPY

Magnetotherapy is a technology applied to fabrics that uses static magnetic fields to stimulate blood circulation, relieve muscle tension, and promote deeper, more restorative sleep. This is achieved by integrating magnetic minerals or micromagnets into the fabric, which interact passively with the body during rest. The treatment improves oxygen transport, helps reduce fatigue and inflammation, and provides a sense of muscular relaxation without the need for electricity or external devices. It is a safe, natural solution, ideal for wellness or therapeutic mattresses—both in hotels and for home use—designed for those seeking wellbeing without invasive treatments.
